

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

THE PASSPORT.

JOHANNES LICHTENWALLNER, the common ancestor of the LICHTENWALNER family in this country, was born at or near Kolmberg, Germany, in about the year 1708. He emigrated to America, settling in Pennsylvania, in the year 1733. His Passport, which document it was necessary for him to obtain from the proper authorities before leaving his native country, has been handed down from generation to generation, and is still well preserved and quite legible, notwithstanding its age. It is written in the German language upon a large sheet of sheepskin and is now in the possession of E. J. LICHTENWALNER, Esq., of Allentown, Pa., who has the honor of being "the oldest son of the oldest son," from the common ancestor down to the present generation. The passport is written in a language which has largely become antiquated, also in letters, many of which have changed in form, and for these reasons it has been a difficult task to translate it into modern German or into English. The Rev. THOMAS W. DICKERT, of Macungie, Pa., kindly consented to translate it into English, and he succeeded most admirably, though not without much pains-taking labor. The passport is here given in the original, with the only exception that Roman letters have been substituted in place of the German, together with its translation into English by Rev. DICKERT.

IN THE ORIGINAL.

ENGLISH VERSION.

Translated by Rev. THOMAS W. DICKERT, of Macungie, Pa.

In the day of the reign of the most illustrious Prince and Lord Carl William Frederick, Margrave of Brandenburg, Duke in Prussia of Magdeburg, Stettin, Pomerania, of Cassuben and Wenden, of Mecklenburg, also in Schlessien of Crossen, Burgrave of Nuernberg, Prince of Halberstadt, Minden, Kamin, Wenden, Schwerin and Katzenburg, Count of Hohenzollern and Schwerin, Lord of the Lands of Rostock and Stargard, of our most gracious Prince and Lord, the time-ordained Captain and Treasurer, then Beadle of the illustrious superior bailiwick of Kolmberg.

I, John William Barchewitz, and I, John George Samuel Donner, do hereby publicly and to everybody testify and acknowledge, that the bearer of this, Johann Liechtenwaller, having been for four years a servant and master of the blacksmith trade at Kreuth, in the office most graciously entrusted to us, personally appeared before us and expressed the desire to emigrate to Pennsylvania with his wife Barbara, and a son one year of age; this he wished to do for the improvement of his temporal welfare, after the sale of the goods belonging to his occupation and the adjustment of his revenue and taxes. In a becoming manner he requested us not only to release him from the duties which he had hitherto faithfully discharged, and to grant him an unimpeded departure, but also to give him a credible testimonium and a respectful passport of his former relations in order that he might therewith make himself known in an honorable way.

Since then it is not otherwise known than that the above-named Liechtenwaller, during the four years in which he was in our employ, showed himself at all times submissive and obedient, as becomes a faithful subject, subjected himself to the public commands and prohibitions, discharged the public obligations in an orderly way and at the proper time, also conducted himself peacefully and harmoniously with everyone, so that there never appeared any complaint or grievance against him; therefore we should gladly have retained him as a subject, if circumstances had permitted. Yet we have borne him no scruple in the gratification of his request, but knowingly release him of his servile duties, and grant him an unmolested departure; moreover, we also entreat everyone of whatever station or dignity they may be, to manifest toward the above-mentioned Liechtenwaller, because of his good behavior, all well-wishing, and to lend him a helping hand in the promotion of his success; also to pass him and his at all places securely and unmolested, and allow him to enjoy this testimony in very deed.

In witness whereof this passport is executed by us above-named officers personally subscribed to, corroborated with the greater seals of our office and voluntarily granted to Liechtenwaller for his legitimate use.

Granted at Kolmberg, April 25th, in the year 1733 after the birth of Christ, our only Redeemer and Saviour.

The First Annual Family Reunion.

THE PURPOSE of holding a family reunion and of compiling a family history originated with Charles Lichtenwalner, of Macungie, Pa. It has been largely owing to his well directed effort and his untiring zeal that the first family Reunion, held August 31, 1899, was so eminently successful.

The complete and accurate list of the descendants of the Pennsylvania branch of the family, herein given, necessitated a large amount of patient labor in its preparation, and all of it was performed by him, almost alone and unaided.

PREPARATORY WORK.

The first organized effort made in the preparation for holding a family reunion, was a meeting of representatives of the family, called by Charles Lichtenwalner and held on Feb. 11th, 1899, at the residence of T. Frank Butz, in Allentown. Those present at the meeting were: Mr. and Mrs. Hiram A. Lichtenwalner, of Cetronia; Charles Lichtenwalner, of Macungie; Mrs. T. F. Butz, and Mrs. Stephen Kuntz, of Allentown; George Lichtenwalner, of Alburtis; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis S. Lichtenwalner, of Litzenberg; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Sterner, of Eckerts P. O., and Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Litzenberger, of Mountainville. — LEWIS STERNER served as chairman of the meeting and LEWIS S. LICHTENWALNER as secretary.

At an adjourned meeting held at the same place on Feb. 24th, the following executive committee was appointed :

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

Charles Lichtenwalner, chairman.
W. Allen Lichtenwallner, secretary.
Rev. Reuben M. Lichtenwalner, of Catasauqua.
Rev. Thomas W. Dickert, of Macungie.
Lewis Sterner, of Eckerts.
James P. Lichtenwalner, of Bath.
Leon L. Snyder, Esq., of Old Zionsville.
Lewis S. Lichtenwalner, of Litzenberg.
Hiram A. Lichtenwalner, of Cetronia.
Robert J. Andrews, of Macungie.

The executive committee held its first meeting on April 27, 1899, at the residence of Charles Lichtenwalner, near Macungie. It was decided to hold our first annual reunion on Thursday, August 24th, 1899, which date at a later meeting was changed to Thursday, August 31st, 1899.

The following sub-committees were appointed :

Committee on Program : Charles Lichtenwalner, Rev. T. W. Dickert, and Rev. R. M. Lichtenwalner.

Committee on Location : W. A. Lichtenwallner, Leon L. Snyder, and Clement C. Lichtenwalner.

The committee asked for suggestions of suitable locations for the reunion, whereupon the following places were named by different members : The Allentown Fair Grounds; Dorney's Fish Weir ; Fuller's Grove, at Catasauqua ; Rittersville Park ; Grove at Freemansburg, and Andreas' Grove, near Wescoesville.

At a meeting of the executive committee held on June 10th, at the office of W. A. Lichtenwallner in Allentown, the committee on location made its report, unanimously recommending that our first annual reunion be held on the Allentown Fair Grounds. The report was adopted and said location selected. It was agreed that the Allentown Cornet Band be engaged to furnish the music on the afternoon of the day of the reunion. Upon motion the Rev. R. M. Lichtenwalner was selected to serve as President of the Day at the reunion. Hiram A. Lichtenwalner was elected as Treasurer.

The following additional Committees were appointed :

COMMITTEES.

Finance Committee : Charles Lichtenwalner, Lewis S. Lichtenwalner, Clement C. Lichtenwalner, John H. Lichtenwalner, and Harris Lichtenwalner.

Committee on Invitations and Printing : Charles Lichtenwalner, Leon L. Snyder, and Rev. T. W. Dickert.

Refreshments : J. Alfred Fatzinger, Leon L. Snyder, and Clement C. Lichtenwalner.

Music : Stephen Kuntz, Lewis Sterner, and Lewis S. Lichtenwalner.

Registration : Fred. H. Lichtenwalner, Lewis L. Anewalt, and W. Oscar Lichtenwalner.

Seats and Tables : Clement Sterner, Stephen Kuntz, and Victor Dech.

Reception : Leon L. Snyder, Charles Lichtenwalner, B. F. Kepner, Lewis Sterner, George S. Fegely, George Lichtenwalner, Solomon Lichtenwalner, James P. Lichtenwalner, and Hiram A. Lichtenwalner.

Ladies' Reception : Mrs. Charles Lichtenwalner, Mrs. Lewis L. Anewalt, Mrs. Hiram A. Lichtenwalner, Mrs. T. Frank Butz, Mrs. B. F. Kepner, Mrs. Lewis Lichtenwalner, Mrs. Stephen Kuntz, Mrs. Leon L. Snyder, Mrs. Maria Dech, Mrs. Lewis Sterner, Mrs. James P. Lichtenwalner, Mrs. E. C. Shimer, Mrs. George Lichtenwalner, Mrs. Solomon Bortz, Mrs. Susan Schmoyer, and Mrs. Edwin Lichtenwalner.

It may here be stated that the said Ladies' committee rendered valuable services in suitably decorating the grounds and in receiving the visitors on the day of the reunion.

FINAL MEETING OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

At a meeting on August 19, 1899, the committee on refreshments made its report, stating that the committee had entered into a contract with W. H. BECKER, of Litzenberg, to furnish meals, refreshments, and horse feed, on the day of the reunion, BECKER agreeing to pay us 25 per cent. on what was taken in for meals, 33 $\frac{1}{3}$ per cent. on refreshments and 25 per cent. on horse feed, meals to be furnished on the grounds at 25 cts. each and horse feed at 20 cts. The committee on invitations reported that 600 invitations had been printed and distributed. Both reports were accepted and adopted. The committee on printing was instructed to arrange for and procure 1,000 souvenir paper badges for the use of the collectors, 1,000 programs, 36 silk ribbon badges for the members of the committees, 300 meal tickets, and 100 tickets for horse feed.

As collectors, on the day of the reunion, the following ladies, each to select a male companion, were appointed: The Misses Edna Lichtenwalner, of Cetronia; Minnie S. Kline, of Allentown; Laura F. A. and Elizabeth M. Seiple, of Bath; Estella Dech and Maggie, Mamie and Cora Lichtenwalner, of Macungie.

The following plan of collecting was adopted: Each young lady and her male attendant, supplied with badges and a collection basket, are to circulate around among the visitors on the grounds on the day of the reunion, and, after the young lady has pinned a badge on the visitor, her male companion is to present his basket for a contribution, the badge showing that the wearer of it has made a donation and thus preventing its wearer from being asked a second time to contribute.

The committee on program reported that it had prepared the following program:

COMMENTS OF THE PRESS ON THE REUNION.

Allentown Chronicle and News.

The first annual reunion of the Lichtenwalner family of this state is being held to-day on the fair grounds. The perfect weather and the interest which is attached to the affair, were responsible for a large attendance. Nearly all the Lichtenwalners and co-ordinate branches were present, and a large number of people who are in no wise related to the family were attracted by the program offered.

Allentown Daily Leader.

Yesterday the first annual reunion of the Lichtenwalner family of Pennsylvania was held on the fair grounds. There was a very large attendance of representatives of the family and many who were attracted by the program offered. Many of the people brought their lunch for an all-day stay. W. H. Becker of Litzenberg furnished dinner under the grandstand to many of the visitors. It is estimated that fully 1400 people were on the grounds.

Allentown Daily City Item.

The Lichtenwalner family of this section was to-day holding its first annual reunion on the fair grounds and many of the descendants of old Johannes Lichtenwalner and their correlated branches were present.

A banner was hung across Chew street at Seventeenth. It was of canvas with green border. It bore the dates 1735 and 1899, and these words, "All Welcome—Lichtenwalner Reunion." A banner, similarly emblazoned, was fastened to the main entrance of the fair grounds. Another was affixed to the band stand in the grove. The stand was also decorated with flags, above, on the sides and below. A flag hung in front of the stand suspended between trees, and streamers of red, white and blue were pendant over the heads of the people. Here the exercises were held.

Five hundred people attended this morning and upwards of a thousand were there this afternoon. A roll was kept of those present. The program was followed as published. Chairman Lichtenwalner's opening address was of a general nature. It was very interesting and was well received by the audience. Lawyer Calvin F. Smith, of Nazareth, delivered an able address on "The Palatinates." At the afternoon exercises the Rev. T. W. Dickert, of Macungie, read the passport of Johannes Lichtenwalner, the common ancestor of the family. W. Allen Lichtenwallner, Esq., of this city, delivered the historical address. The Rev. F. J. F. Schantz, of Myerstown, made an impromptu address in Pennsylvania German. He spoke of the family in its relation to the other distinctively Pennsylvania German families of the state. Mayor James L. Schaadt followed in a well-delivered address in English. The exercises were interspersed with excellent music by the Allentown Band. The Chautauqua salute was given to CHARLES LICHTENWALNER, president, and W. ALLEN LICHTENWALLNER, secretary, of the executive committee, and to the memory of the parental LICHTENWALNER.

Allentown Democrat.

On Thursday last the Lichtenwalners of Lehigh, Northampton, Berks and the eastern part of Pennsylvania generally, descendants of JOHANNES LICHTENWALNER, who emigrated from Germany to this country 166 years ago, and after a time settled near Fogelsville, Upper Macungie twp., held their first reunion on the fair grounds in this city, and it proved a complete success. Arrivals began not very long after the matin chanticleer had ceased his song to wake a sleeping world, and continued until mid-forenoon, by which time a large number of the descendants had assembled. A considerable proportion of the gathering was made up of young folks, but even the little ones seemed to appreciate the fact that the day was one set apart for enjoyment, and few, very few wails were heard from any of them. Early in the morning upon railroad trains and conveyances of almost every description, the descendants began to arrive until near noon, when an unexpectedly large number were upon the grounds, and, oh, what handshaking and greetings of welcome were indulged in! The hearts of young and old swelled and heaved with delight over the clear, bright day, and the meeting of relatives from far and near. In the afternoon many relatives, friends and acquaintances living in this city and neighborhood visited the grounds to extend greetings, and it is estimated that the crowd as a whole numbered at least 1400 people. Four generations were represented at the reunion. The family is one that has made its mark in the history of this county, and in which every member of the family can take just pride.

It is believed that the oldest member of the family present was Rev. REUBEN M. LICHTENWALNER, the honored chairman of the meeting, who, nearly 73 years of age, stands tall and erect, though his hair is silvered, and who as pastor of the U. B. Church at Catasauqua, is a virile figure in the pulpit and a power for good in his community.

VISITORS FROM ABROAD.

Among those who were in attendance at the reunion from abroad were: Albert F. Lichtenwalner, Monroe, Wisconsin; Dr. A. B. Lichtenwalner and family, Philadelphia; Dr. Milton D. Lichtenwalner, Reading; Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Leibensperger, McKeanburg; Rev. and Mrs. Geo. B. Smith, Kutztown; Rev. O. S. Scheirer, Krumsville; Mrs. J. Edward DeBrien, Mrs. Kathrina S. Worrell, Miss Helen J. Worrell, Edward F. and Henry C. Worrell, Edw. M. Aldrich, Philadelphia; Mrs. Fayette Mills, Media, Delaware Co.; Mrs. Elizabeth Rogers, Misses Ida and Laura Rogers, Chester; Misses Margaret and Sadie Stahler, Urbanus Stahler, Andrew Raab, and Andrew F. Raab, Tamaqua; Misses Mary and Mamie Moyer, John, Jacob and Paul Moyer, Reading; Miss Edith C. Edelman, Mervyn H. Edelman, Jersey City, N. J.; Mrs. John E. Scull, Mrs. Susan H. Fegely, Reading; Mrs. L. A. Flexer, Tamamend; Mrs. Reuben Schlabach, Miss Carrie Schlabach, Easton; Frank S. Lichtenwalner, Chalfont; Owen C., John J., and D. C. Lichtenwalner, Tatamy; Mrs. Annie Faust, Ambler; Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Fetherman, Plover; Mary R. and Esther M. Snyder, Milford Square; B. J. Snyder, R. T. Egner, Philadelphia; Milton H. and Ida S. Lichtenwalner, Belfast; Mr. and Mrs. Peter L. Diener, Miss Alice M. Diener, Hamburg; Dr. J. L. Kline, West Penn, Schuylkill Co.

HISTORICAL ADDRESS.

Delivered by W. A. LICHTENWALLNER on the day of the First Annual Reunion.

JOHANNES LICHTENWALLNER, our common ancestor, together with his wife BARBARA and a one year old son, arrived in the ship "Samuel of London," at Philadelphia, on August 17th, in the year 1733. He was one of the pioneers in the early settlement of this county and he and his family necessarily underwent all the dangers and privations incident to a life upon what was then the western frontier of civilization. Very little is known of his history. We do not know in what year he was born or when he died, nor do we know where his earthly remains lie interred. No monument or tombstone marks the spot. And yet, while no shaft of stone or of marble points us to his place of burial, what grander memorial could he have wished for than this large gathering of his descendants, assembled here to-day, to commemorate his life upon earth, — to do honor to his memory. If his spirit and those of his children, — our fathers and our forefathers, — if their spirits are hovering over us and looking down upon us to-day, it must fill their immortal souls with just and pardonable pride to know and to feel that, as evidenced by this large assemblage, their memory still lives in the hearts of their children.

OUR ANCESTOR'S FIRST SETTLEMENT.

When JOHANN landed in this country in 1733, the tide of immigration, and especially of the Palatinates, who then came over here in large numbers, was into the country lying north and west of Philadelphia. After purchasing a team in Philadelphia, he loaded on his wagon what few household effects he had and, with his wife and son, followed the immigration up into this section of country. He came over what was then a well traveled road, for those days, to Hanover in Montgomery county, where he is known to have lived for a brief time and where he probably plied his vocation of blacksmith. He was in search of vacant land, however, as were all the early settlers, and his evident desire was to settle upon unoccupied land, where he could build for himself a home and till his own soil. The Philadelphia road was extended in 1733 from Goshenhoppen in Montgomery county, across the Lehigh mountain and up north as far as Jeremiah Trexler's tavern, erected at what is now Trexlertown. All the desirable land in Montgomery county being already taken, JOHANN followed this new road in 1734 up into "Magungy," which then comprised nearly all the west end of this county and which was then a part of Bucks county. He found all the land lying west and north of Trexler's tavern still vacant and unoccupied. But the German settlers that then came in there, did not like the general appearance of the country in what is now Upper Macungie township. The land was not well watered and the timber growing upon it was, for the most part, nothing but scrub oak, a dwarfish, sickly looking kind of tree; so the first settlers, believing the land in Macungie to be worthless, passed beyond it and settled in the north part of this county, where they found abundant pure springs of water and where the land was covered with a heavy growth of tall timber. JOHANN, our common ancestor, followed an old Indian trail from Trexler's tavern across Macungie, passed up into the western part of what is now North Whitehall township and there selected and settled upon a 300-acre tract of vacant land along the Jordan creek, for which tract he secured a warrant from the Province of Pennsylvania in 1738. A part of this tract is now owned by HENRY GEIGER.

ORGANIZATION OF THE JORDAN LUTHERAN CHURCH.

Nearly all the first settlers along the Jordan in Whitehall were German Lutherans. They were Palatinates, who had left the old country because of religious persecution. It was quite natural therefore that one of the first things thought of by them in their newly settled homes, was to organize themselves into a congregation and take steps to build a house of worship. The Jordan Lutheran congregation was accordingly organized, with JOHANN LICHTENWALLNER and GEORGE STEININGER as the first trustees. In the year 1744, the congregation obtained from the Province of Pennsylvania a warrant to a 50-acre tract of land. The following was the form of receipt issued therefor:

" Phila. April 25, 1744.—Rec'd of George Steininger
" and John Lightwater, trustees, 2£. 10s. in part considera- " tion for 50 acres to be surveyed to them at Macungy in the " county of Bucks for the use of a burying ground for the " Lutheran congregation there.

" Rec'd for the Honorable Proprietors
" Lynford Lardner, Recording General.

The congregation for the first few years met for worship at the houses of the different members and the first church building, a log house, was not erected until the year 1746. It stood very near the spot where the present Jordan Lutheran church stands. The Lichtenwallners, even after settling beyond Fogelsville, continued to remain members of the congregation down to the fourth generation.

SETTLEMENT IN UPPER MACUNGIE.

Just how long JOHANN continued to reside on his Jordan Creek plantation is not known for a certainty, but it is very evident that he was not at all satisfied with the land that he had selected. The land was rough and hilly and the top soil he found to be shallow and gravelly. For these reasons he evidently concluded to take up other land and make a settlement elsewhere. He went back to what is now Upper Macungie township and selected a tract of land one mile west of Fogelsville, though there was no village there then. This land he found still vacant, for, as already stated, that part of the country was considered worthless by the early settlers, being that it was not well watered and contained very little tall timber, nearly all of it being scrub oak. He must have settled there about the year 1742 and he built for himself a log dwelling on the spot where now stand the farm buildings of the old John H. Lichtenwallner farm, at present owned by Peter R. Bear, Esq., of Fogelsville. There is a fine spring of pure water there, and it evidently was because of this spring of water that he was led to select this land and make there his future home.

The first log cabins erected by the early settlers contained only one room. The bare earth served as a floor and the roof was made of timbers laid across, covered with sod and with leaves. They had no boards in those days, for saw mills were not erected until some years later. In a log house, thus rudely constructed, JOHANN and his family lived for about six years. When he selected his land, he must have taken an ax and marked its boundary lines by chopping a chip off of every tree that stood directly on the boundary line, clear around the land; for in the Deed Patent which he obtained to the land in 1752, the courses and distances are described as extending along lines of marked trees. To cut chips out of the trees standing on the boundary lines, was the custom of selecting vacant lands in those days, and it served a very useful purpose, for it gave all other incoming settlers notice, that the land was taken.

BRIEF HISTORY OF LAND TITLES.

In order to get a fairly clear idea as to how land was obtained by the early settlers, it is necessary to go back to the time when the soil was still in the undisputed possession of the Indians. The tribe of Indians, who possessed all these lands, and who used to roam over these hills and valleys, were the Delaware or Leni Lenapes. William Penn, his brother, and two sons, obtained title to large tracts of land in this state from the Indians by treaty and by purchase. The consideration paid was oftentimes a mere trifle. One of the earliest purchases of land made from the Indians in the Lehigh region was in 1684, the parties being William Penn and Maughausin, one of the leading chiefs of the Delawares. It included a large tract, and this was the consideration of the purchase: "Two match coats, 4 pair of stockings and 4 bottles of cider." What was known as the famous Walking purchase was made from the Indians in 1737, or 4 years after JOHANN LICHTENWALLNER landed in this country. This purchase included a part of Bucks and nearly all of what is now Northampton county. It was called the Walking purchase, because the agreement made with the Indians was, that the northwestern boundary of the land thus negotiated for, should extend to a point as far northwest as a man could walk in a day and a half, and from that point straight east to the Delaware river. When the western boundary line was established, the whites obtained the best walkers that could be found in the settlement, and the men thus selected, in place of walking the slow, easy pace to which the Indians were accustomed, stopping every once and a while to smoke their pipes and striking their tents at sunset to rest for the night, these walkers kept right on, walking day and night, and each trying to outstrip the other. The point farthest north, reached at the end of the day and a half by the fastest walker in the lot, was claimed as the northwestern boundary of the purchase, and by these means the purchase was made to include an immense tract of land, a tract more than again as large as the Indians had supposed it would. It was by such unfair and deceptive means that the Whites obtained possession of most of the land hereabouts. It caused much dissatisfaction to prevail among the Indians, causing them at times to become very troublesome and culminating in the Indian raid of 1763, when, only a few miles north of here, several of the early settlers' homes were burnt to the ground, three children of John Jacob Mickley were tomahawked, and Hans Schneider, his wife and three children were butchered in cold blood by the redskins.

The Penns established a proprietary government in this state in 1718. From year to year they extended their domains by purchases thus made from the Indians, and the emigrants, coming over here from the old country, were invited to enter this section of country and take possession. When a new settler came in here, he of course traveled on until he came to land that was still unoccupied. He then selected his land by marking its boundaries, and made application to the Penns for a warrant to the land thus selected. The warrant, in reality, was simply a written instrument, giving the surveyor general of the province authority to survey the tract desired. The issuing of the warrant, however, gave the settler a presumptive title to the land. At the time JOHANN LICHTENWALLNER selected his land west of Fogelsville, the price asked by the Penns was \$4.13 per acre. A certain per cent. of the purchase money was paid at the time the warrant was secured; the balance of the purchase money was not paid until the Deed Patent to the land was obtained, which was not asked for, oftentimes, until a number of years after the land was first taken. JOHANN secured warrants in 1746 and 1748, and obtained his Deed Patent in 1752, the purchase comprising $213\frac{3}{4}$ acres. Later on he purchased additional tracts until his plantation west of Fogelsville included $413\frac{3}{4}$ acres.

THE FIRST MARKET OF THE EARLY SETTLERS.

After he had built his log cabin, JOHANN no doubt began to clear his land and to get ready as large a patch as possible to put into crops. For a long time the only market at which the settlers could dispose of their products, was at Philadelphia. Everything the farmer wanted to sell he had to haul in wagons to that city. It took them from early Monday morning till Friday night to make a trip. The neighbors usually went in parties of ten or twelve, taking their own food and enough horse feed along to last them the whole week. All of their produce was thus transported until the Lehigh canal was built in 1829. Flour for some years was a very scarce article and was not to be had on this side of the Lehigh mountain. It had to be brought up from Goshenhoppen and Oley, but this was remedied when Kline's mill in Weissenburg and the Albright mill just below Trexlertown were built.

While JOHANN kept on clearing additional land to put into crops, his wife BARBARA must have put in lots of hard work in the garden, for they had a large garden, raising lettuce, turnips, cabbage and other vegetables. In the garden they also planted apple seeds, brought from the old country. As soon as they were large enough, the apple trees were transplanted and an orchard was started. JOHANN had the largest apple orchard then in that vicinity, and, as soon as his trees began to bear fruit, he erected a distillery and made apple-jack out of his apples; he also made whiskey out of rye that he raised on his cleared land. He went into the distillery business, no doubt, because of the very long distance to market. Apple-jack and rye whiskey were not as bulky articles as wheat or other produce from the field, and were therefore more easily transported to Philadelphia. This distillery on the Lichtenwallner plantation was kept in operation after JOHANN's death by JOHANN No. 2 and, after him, by JOHANN No. 3. We know this from the fact that a license for running the distillery was taken out from year to year down as late as the year 1817.

JOHANN'S CHILDREN.

The children, so far as known, of JOHANN and his wife BARBARA, were the following:

1. The one-year old son they brought with them from the old country in 1733.
2. Margaretta, born Feb. 3, 1734.
3. Maria Agatha, born in 1736.
4. Johann No. 2, born June 29, 1738.
5. Catharina, born Oct. 2, 1742.
6. Anna Christina, born May 12, 1745.
7. Johann Tobias, born April 23, 1747.
8. Catharina Margaretta, born Oct. 30, 1749.
9. Abraham, born July 12, 1753.

You will observe that among the children there are two sons by the name of Johann and two daughters by the name of Catharina. It was a custom among the early German settlers to give a subsequent son or daughter the same name as that of a former son or daughter, with an additional Christian name added. Thus the first Johann was named simply "Johann," and the second Johann was named "Johann Tobias." The first Catharina was named simply "Catharina," and the second Catharina was named "Catharina Margaretta."

This list shows that Johann had four sons and five daughters. The names of the last five of his children are entered in the old Baptismal Record of the Jordan Lutheran church. This book, though quite yellow from old age, is still well preserved and is now in the possession of Solomon Kuhns, of Litzenberg, an old member of the congregation. The first entry in this book of Baptisms was made in 1740. For some unaccountable reason pages 1, 2, 3, 6 and 7 have been torn out of it and must have been destroyed.

Of two of Johann's sons we know nothing. So far as we are able to learn, they left no descendants, and for this reason it is believed they died in infancy. His second son, Johann

No. 2, is the common ancestor of all the Pennsylvania Lichtenwallners, and his fourth son, Abraham, went west and is the ancestor of the Ohio Lichtenwalters. His daughter Maria Agatha was married on Feb. 5th, 1754, to Heinrich, a son of Georg Steininger, who together with Johann Lichtenwallner were the first trustees of the Jordan Lutheran church. Of his other daughters we know nothing. We would not even know that they had existed were it not for the fact that their names, the dates of birth and their parents names are entered in the old Baptismal Record. They must either have died in infancy or their identity was lost by their marrying into other families.

As I have already stated, the Philadelphia road was extended from Goshenhoppen in Montgomery county across the Lehigh mountain and up north as far as Trexler's tavern in the year 1733. The roads running into the country lying north of Trexlertown, for some years, were nothing but Indian trails. In March, 1749, a petition was presented to the court of Bucks county for the laying out of a road from Trexlertown up to the Jordan creek in what is now North Whitehall township. You must remember that Lehigh and Northampton counties belonged to, and were a part of Bucks county up to the year 1753. Northampton county was then organized and Lehigh was a part of Northampton from 1753 to the year 1812, when Lehigh was organized as a separate county. This petition for laying out a road from Trexlertown to Jordan creek was signed by Johann Lichtenwallner, his son-in-law Heinrich Steininger, Peter Trexler, Jacob Schlouch, Lorenz Schaadt, and others. Johann had then already settled west of Fogelsville, but he still held a warrant to 300 acres of land in the Jordan creek region, and was therefore directly interested in having the new road built.

AN INDIAN RESORT.

Just a mile west of the Lichtenwallner homestead, on the Grim farm in Weissenberg township, there was a place where the Indians used to strike their tents in large numbers and remain there for several weeks at a time, on their passage to and fro between the Lehigh and the Blue mountains. The settlers in that neighborhood, as a rule, however, seldom were molested by the redskins. The only time they were very troublesome was during the Indian raid of 1763. The early settlers of Macungie always treated the redskins well. The Indians were great beggars and often came around to the settlers' houses begging for little trinkets, tobacco and something to eat. They were never turned away, without receiving something, and for this reason they generally felt quite peaceably inclined.

THE FAMILY RESIDENCE.

JOHANN continued to reside in his one-roomed log cabin for about six years. He then built a stone house, a story and a half high. They no longer used the bare earth as a floor, but board floors were used, though uncarpeted, and the house was covered with a shingle roof. This stone house contained two rooms on the ground floor, a large room used as a kitchen, dining room and for general family purposes; the other room was smaller and was used as a bed room for the younger children and the daughters. On one side of the latter room was a sort of a closet, called a "kammer," which was without a window and was used by JOHANN and his wife as a bed room. The older sons slept in the loft, which was also used as a storing room for grain and flax. The loft was reached, not by a stairway, but by a common ladder. In the kitchen was a large open fire place with a huge chimney extending beyond the roof. On one side of the open fire place was a large bake oven and in the loft over the bake oven was a smoke house for drying meat. In later years, his son Johann built a large addition to the house, also of stone, two stories high. This stone house remained standing and was used as the family residence until the year 1856, when the present house on the John H. Lichtenwallner, now Peter R. Bear, farm was built. The summer kitchen of the present house stands on the exact spot where the old stone house used to stand.

JOHANN'S DEATH AND CHARACTER.

We have been unable to find out in what year JOHANN died or where he lies buried. Many of the tombstones on the early graves in the old Jordan Lutheran church cemetery have totally crumbled to the ground, and it is believed that both JOHANN and his wife BARBARA lie buried there in what are now unmarked graves.

Little is known of JOHANN'S character. His passport makes it very apparent that he was highly esteemed in the community where he was born and raised. The active and prominent part he took in church affairs shows that he was a godly and religious man. The baptismal record of the Jordan Lutheran church shows that JOHANN and his wife BARBARA were the sponsors at no less than sixteen baptisms of their neighbors' children. Baptisms in the early days were more of a festive occasion than they are at present. All the near relatives and friends were invited, and, after the baptismal ceremony had ended, a great feast was had. This small circumstance, that JOHANN was so much in demand among his friends and neighbors as sponsor at the baptisms of their children at least shows that he must have been much honored and respected in the community.

THE OHIO LICHTENWALTERS.

We now come to the second generation of the Lichtenwallner family in this country. The only sons of JOHANN who left any descendants, so far as we know, are JOHANN No. 2, the ancestor of all the Pennsylvania Lichtenwallners, and ABRAHAM, the ancestor of the Ohio Lichtenwalters.

ABRAHAM was born July 12, 1753, in the stone house on the Lichtenwallner homestead, one mile west of Fogelsville. There is an entry of his birth and baptism in the baptismal record of the Jordan Lutheran church, the sponsors being Abraham Knerr, and his wife Maria Etta. ABRAHAM was married to Eva Catharina Seeger, or Saeger, a granddaughter of Johann Nicholas Saeger, who is the ancestor of the Saeger family in this county. After he had a family of his own, it is believed that ABRAHAM resided on the 300 acre tract of land on Jordan creek, to which his father JOHANN had secured a warrant in 1738. What makes us think so is the fact that the assessment for taxes made by the commissioners of Northampton county in 1781, upon record at Easton, shows that ABRAHAM was then a resident of Whitehall township, he being assessed for a small amount.

Before the close of the year 1791, ABRAHAM and his family moved to York county, this state. The Orphans' Court record of York county shows that he was appointed guardian of a certain minor on October 2, 1792. In the year 1813, he crossed the Alleghanies and settled on a farm three miles east of Canton, Ohio, where he died the following year. His son Daniel settled at Canton some years before his father moved there. Daniel in 1867, when 80 years of age, was killed by a locomotive while attempting to drive across a railroad track at Canton.

ABRAHAM had twelve children, nine of whom settled around Canton and lived to a ripe old age. Their descendants now number close to 2,000 and are scattered all over Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and other states. They have held annual reunions ever since the year 1888, all of which have been attended by from 400 to 700 of Abraham's descendants. All of them write their name Lichtenwalter, in place of Lichtwalner. Jacob B. Lichtenwalter, of Milford, Ind., now 68 years old, was president of their first five reunions. William Lichtenwalter of Canton was president of their last reunion. Frank Braucher, of Canton, a great grandson of ABRAHAM, was their first secretary. M. J. Braucher, Esq., his brother, also of Canton, is their present secretary.

The following communication has lately been received from them. I will read it.

“ CANTON, OHIO, Aug. 11th, 1899.
“ TO OUR KINSMEN:
“ THE LICHTENWALNERS OF THE KEYSTONE STATE.

“ GREETING:

“ Whereas historical records have clearly established
“ the fact that we are brethren,—that we are all descendants “ of JOHANN LICHTENWALTER, who emigrated to America in “ 1733, and that his son Johann, and our ancestor Abraham,
“ were brothers.

“ Therefore be it resolved by the Lichtenwalters of the “ Buckeye State, the descendants of Abraham Lichtenwalter, “ that we join with you in hearty enthusiasm, to make your “ first reunion on the 31st day of August, 1899, a harmonious “ success.

“ That it may be the laying of the corner stone of con“ tinued “brotherly love,” “fraternal affection,” and above all
“ of “unbounded patriotism,” which links us all into one “ united whole, with one God, one flag and one country.

“ WILLIAM LICHTENWALTER, Pres.
“ M. J. BRAUCHER, Secretary.

“ Frank Braucher, }
“ H. Saeger, } Executive Committee.
“ Jacob Grossman, }

Our committee responded with the following communication:

“ ALLENTOWN, PA., Aug. 21, 1899.

“ At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Penn“ sylvania branch of the Lichtenwalner family, held this day,
“ the resolutions of your executive committee kindly extend“ ing to us a cordial greeting, were presented and read. On “ motion they were ordered to be spread upon our minutes,
“ and that they likewise be read on the day of our first annual “ Reunion. The following Resolutions were also adopted:

“ Resolved, that we extend to our Western Kinsmen a “ most cordial and fraternal greeting in return;

“ That we all will be with you in spirit on the day of “ your eleventh annual Reunion on Sept. 2, and we trust that “ it will be fully as successful as have been your reunions in
“ the past;

“ That nothing would give us greater pleasure than to “ arrange, jointly with yourselves, in some future year to hold
“ a grand combined Reunion of both branches of our family.

“ THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

THE PENNSYLVANIA LICHTENWALNERS.

Johann's oldest son, Johann No. 2, a brother of Abraham and the common ancestor of the Pennsylvania Lichtenwalners, was born June 29, 1738. When he was 25 years of age, he married Catharina Stättler, a daughter of Daniel Stättler, who was one of the pioneers in the settlement of Weissenberg township. He resided, during his whole life, in the stone house on the old homestead. He inherited $413\frac{3}{4}$ acres of land from his father, which lay in a body one mile west of Fogelsville. The farm, in fact, was deeded to him by his father before his death. The deed is still preserved and is dated March 15, 1765. The consideration named in the deed is 1,000 pounds. His father, perhaps, feeling that his end was drawing near and desiring to save the expense and inconvenience of having his estate administered upon after his demise, Easton, the county seat, being at a distance of 28 miles, and perhaps also, wishing to preserve the farm intact in the Lichtenwallner family, he concluded to execute a deed for it to his oldest living son. His son may have agreed to pay a certain amount to the other heirs, so that all should receive a like inheritance.

This 413 acre farm gave Johann No. 2 a good start. He must have been a very thrifty farmer, for he bought one tract of land after another until he owned, all told, 952 acres of as good land as there was in that section of country. He died Oct. 30, 1794, at the age of 56 years, and was buried on the old cemetery at the Jordan Lutheran church. His widow, Catharina, died eight years later, at the age of 57 years, and they lie buried side by side. For fear that their tombstones might crumble and the inscriptions on them be lost, new tombstones were erected alongside the old ones about 20 years ago by Solomon and Eli Lichtenwalner, and similar inscriptions were placed on the new as were on the old.

Johann No. 2 and his wife Catharine had twelve children, ten of whom, five sons and five daughters, attained old age and left numerous descendants. The names of the five sons were Johann No. 3, George or "Yarrick," Peter, Christopher or "Stoffel," and Jacob. The names of the five daughters were Catharina, married to Matthias Leibensperger; Anna Maria, married to George Shaffer; Barbara, married to Philip Leibensperger; Margaret, married to Henry Kline, and Mary Magdalena, married to Jacob Fogel.

After Johann's death, his oldest son, Johann No. 3, his widow Catharine and his old friend and neighbor, Jacob Mohr, became the administrators of his estate. His 952 acres of land were appraised at $24,000, and his personal property at $13,000, making the total value of his estate $37,000. He must have been considered a very wealthy man for that early day. Proceedings in partition were had in the orphans' court at Easton and a jury of inquest, then consisting of twelve men, divided the 952 acres of land into six tracts.

TRACT NO. 1, consisting of 169 acres and 150 perches, included the old stone mansion and was accepted by the oldest son, Johann No. 3, at the appraisers valuation of 1493*℥*. 11*s*. 10*d*.

TRACT NO. 2, consisting of 180 acres and 18 perches and adjoining tract No. 1, was accepted by Peter, through his guardian Peter Kline, at the appraisers' valuation of 990£. 11 s. 8 d.

TRACT No. 3, consisting of 162 acres and 14 perches, was accepted by George, or Yarrick, at the valuation of 1090£. 14 s. This farm lies one mile south of Fogelsville on the east side of the Trexlertown road. It originally comprised two farms, one of which Johann No. 2 bought from Baltzer Smith in 1792 and the other from Leonard Schlouch in 1789. The Baltzer Smith farm now belongs to Dr. M. D. Lichtenwalner, of Reading, Pa., and the Schlouch farm is now owned by Jonas Lichtenwalner of Trexlertown.

TRACT No. 4, consisting of 178 acres and 29 perches in Longswamp township, was accepted by Christopher, through his guardian Henry Mohr, at the appraisers' valuation of 669£. 18 s. 6 d. This farm now belongs to Charles Folk.

TRACT No. 5, consisting of 156 acres and 116 perches in Weissenberg township was accepted by Jacob, through his guardian Daniel Knauss, at the valuation of . . . Jacob Lichtenwalner, a grandson of the first Jacob, now owns and occupies this farm. The two tracts, accepted by Christopher and Jacob, their father had bought from the Province of Pennsylvania by deed dated Sept. 1, 1789.

Each of the five sons had now accepted a tract, so TRACT No. 6 was offered to the five daughters, to the oldest first and so on down to the youngest, but neither of them would accept it at the appraisers' valuation of 258£. 3 s. and 9 d., so it was then offered to the oldest son John, who accepted it at its valuation. This tract No. 6 comprised $76\frac{3}{4}$ acres and adjoined the homestead. It was bought by Johann No. 1 from the Province of Penna. in 1752 and by him deeded to Johann No. 2, together with all of tracts Nos. 1 and 2, less $13\frac{1}{4}$ acres, by deed dated March 15, 1765. The widow's dower remained on all of these tracts. The widow, Catharine, died in 1802.

THE SCHOOLING OF THE CHILDREN.

The five sons and the five daughters of Johann No. 2 were born and raised in the stone house on the old homestead, one mile west of Fogelsville. What little schooling they received was obtained during the winter months in a school house standing on top of the hill, one mile northwest of Fogelsville, along the Seipstown road. In fact Fogelsville was not then in existence. Judge John Fogel, the father of Solomon Fogel, built a tavern there in 1798, and that was the starting point of the village, while the school house was erected nine years earlier, or in 1789. This hill on which the school house stood was the highest point anywhere around Fogelsville and was then known as Lichteberg. At the foot of the hill, in a south-westerly direction, at a distance of only a quarter of a mile, was the Lichtenwallner stone mansion. It was a parochial school, and the school land was donated by Johann No. 2 and Jacob Moyer. The following condition is found in the deed to the land: "Donated for the sole purpose of holding and keeping a common and united Lutheran and Reformed house of schooling for the teaching and instruction of youths." The school house was built of stone, a story and a half high, and had two rooms on the ground floor, with a cellar underneath. The teacher used to sleep in the loft and sometimes kept bachelor's hall there; sometimes he also boarded 'round with the parents of his scholars, remaining at each place for a week. So long as Johann's ten sons and daughters attended, the German language was the only language taught in the school. Whenever they signed their names to a deed or other document, the five sons invariably wrote their names in German, while the five daughters always made their marks.

SOME OLD CUSTOMS.

It may be interesting to say a word as to some of the customs which prevailed at the time these five sons and five daughters of Johann No. 2 were growing up to manhood and womanhood. While the people then, as a rule, were religious, honest and industrious, they had their amusements as well. At nearly every cross-roads there was a tavern, where frolics were held every Saturday night. Apple-jack was cheap in those days, the men sometimes got rude and boisterous, and fights at these frolics were of frequent occurrence. In the fall of the year the farmers often had "corn matches," when corn was husked during the day and a frolic was had on their big barn floors at night. Snitzing and apple butter parties were held, which also usually wound up with a frolic, the dancing often being kept up till daylight. Shooting in the new year was another old custom. Sometimes there were crowds of 20 to 30 young men together, starting at midnight and going from house to house, shooting the old year out and the new year in.

When the clothes which our first settlers brought along with them from the old country were worn out, they made themselves new clothing out of sail cloth, a kind of coarse stuff that they bought at Philadelphia, but these were not warm enough in winter time, so, in order to keep warm they often had to put on two or three pair of pantaloons and as many coats. But they soon turned their attention to cultivating flax and the raising of sheep. Then people commenced to wear linen clothes in summer and woolen in winter. All the clothing they then wore were home-made, the women doing the spinning and the men the weaving. Each of the five daughters of Johann had her spinning wheel, and when all of them were in operation, which often happened, it must have made things hum around the Lichtenwallner homestead. For a long time, down as late as the year 1850, the people mostly wore home-made clothes, weekdays and Sundays, in summer linen, and in winter, the men linsey-woolsey and the women flannel. After calico became cheaper, women commenced to wear it, and while going to church meeting on a Sunday, many a young lady in those days felt as proud of her new calico dress as young ladies do now of a dress made of silk or of satin.

JOHANN NO. 3 AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

But we must hasten on. Johann No. 3, the oldest son of Johann No. 2, and the brother of Yarrick, Peter, Stoffel, and Jacob, was born Dec. 1, 1766, or 10 years before the War of the Revolution. He married Margaret Steininger, and they had eight children. He bought from his brother Peter most of the land that Peter had inherited. He owned both the John H. and Wm. C. Lichtenwalner farms, and accumulated considerable property besides, leaving quite a large estate at the time of his death. He and his family were members of the Jordan Lutheran church, but he and his wife were buried at the Ziegel's church, in Weissenburg, for the following reason: When his wife died on Dec. 3, 1834, the only unoccupied ground he could find on the Jordan Lutheran church cemetery, was low ground, and, fearing that water might get into her grave if he should bury her there, he concluded to bury her on the cemetery at Ziegel's church. He survived his wife only nine days, dying very suddenly at the age of 68 years, 3 months, 11 days, and his earthly remains were laid alongside of his wife on the Ziegel's church cemetery. His oldest son, John No. 4, who was my grandfather, was elected county commissioner of Lehigh in 1847. When the Lutheran and Reformed Union church was built at Fogelsville in 1835, my grandfather was a member of the building committee.

The public school law, adopted by our state legislature in 1834, was at first looked upon with much disfavor. There was great opposition, in many parts of the country, to being compelled to pay taxes for school purposes. Because of this opposition, the common school system was not at once accepted in Upper Macungie township, but, mainly through the efforts of the Lichtenwallners and the Fogels, the electors of the township voted to adopt it in 1842, or 8 years after the common school law had passed the legislature. The officers of the first school board of Upper Macungie township were:

DAVID SCHALL, President.

JOHN LICHTENWALLNER, Secretary.

SOLOMON FOGEL, Treasurer.

John No. 4 died Aug. 20, 1860, at the age of 57 years. He is buried at Fogelsville. His widow, Elizabeth, a born Schaeffer, is still living and resides at Fogelsville. She has attained the advanced age of 87 years, and has been totally blind for the last 17 years. She is still quite hearty and well preserved, considering her age, and she possesses a most remarkable memory. I am indebted to her for many of the data of this historical sketch. She has survived all of her children, having had the very sad experience of burying all three of her sons and her only daughter. Her son Reuben, when 18 years of age, and two others were mowing grass with scythes one day in 1854, on the Jacob Lichtenwallner farm, and Reuben was accidentally cut in the leg by the mower immediately in front of him. The cut had severed an artery, and the rest not knowing enough to bandage the leg to stop the flow of blood, he bled to death before the doctor, who was sent for, arrived. Her son, William C. Lichtenwallner, who was a member of the state legislature in 1860 and 1861, died in 1873. Her son, John H. Lichtenwallner, who one time was Warden of the Lehigh county prison, died in 1882, and her only daughter, Caroline, wife of Hon. John H. Fogel, who also was a member of the state legislature, died last fall.

Samuel Lichtenwallner, another son of Johann No. 3, lived on a farm in Longswamp township. He always was of a very pleasant and genial disposition, having a good, kind word for all whom he met. Every Sunday, rain or shine, he used to attend services at the Mertztown church, a distance of a mile from his farm. Sometimes he drove to church in his carriage and sometimes he walked. One Sunday he drove to church and, after the services, forgetting all about his horse and carriage, he walked home. He died March 24, 1876, at the age of 70 yrs. and is buried at Mertztown. His son John now lives upon the old farm. His son Lewis resides at Chapman's station.

JOHANN NO. 2's OTHER CHILDREN.

George or "Yarrick" Lichtenwalner, the second oldest son of Johann No. 2, was born April 20, 1775. He was confirmed at Lehigh church on April 5th, 1789, at the age of 14 years. He married Maria Knauss and had eight children. He died Dec. 2, 1857, at the age of 82 years, and is buried on the Trexlertown church cemetery. His grandson, Marcus Fegely, of Mertztown, during the late Civil War, lost an arm in the battle of Gettysburg, and his grandson, Dr. Milton D. Lichtenwalner, enlisted in the Pennsylvania Reserves.

Peter, the third oldest son of Johann No. 2, was born March 24, 1778. He died June 25, 1851, at the age of 73 yrs. and is buried at Bath. He married Susanna Oswald and had 7 children. He was a saddler by trade. He sold the land he inherited in Macungie to his brother Johann and to others, and in 1812 settled on a farm near Bath in Northampton county, which he bought from Jacob Fogel, his brother-in-law. He owned two large farms at the time of his death. He sent a substitute to the War of 1812. During the Civil War his grandson, James P. Lichtenwalner, of Bath, enlisted in Aug. 1862 and was in the battles of Antietam, South Mountain and Chancellorsville. Benjamin Schlabach, of Easton, another grandson of his, was killed in the battle of Gettysburg and lies buried there on the battlefield.

Christopher, or "Stoffel" Lichtenwalner died in 1821 at the age of 40 years and is buried at the Longswamp church. He was married to Catharina Bortz and had seven children. He was a carpenter by trade. The large red barns, for which Eastern Pennsylvania has become noted, began to be built in his time and he was considered a master builder in his day. His administrators, who were his brothers John and Jacob, sold his 140 acre farm in Longswamp township, Berks county, by order of the orphans' court for the payment of his debts, in 1824 to Daniel Folk for $3,085.50. All of his children were under age when he died, and, together, they received only $319.59 as their inheritance, or less than $50 a piece.

Jacob Lichtenwallner, the youngest son of Johann No. 2, died Jan. 24th, 1866, at the age of 80 years. He is buried at Ziegel church. He married Susan Hoch and had 7 children.

Catharina, the oldest daughter of Johann No. 2, married to Matthias Leibensperger, died in 1831 at the age of 66 yrs. and is buried at Siegfried's church:

Anna Maria, married to George Shaffer, died in 1852, at the age of 83 years and is buried at Bath.

Barbara, married to Philip Leibensperger, died in 1838, aged 65 years, and is buried in the old Allentown cemetery.

Margaretta, married to Henry Kline, died in 1871, aged 92 years and is buried at the Howertown church.

Mary Magdalena, married to Jacob Fogel, died in 1854, aged 69 years, and is buried at Bath.

CONCLUSION.

We have thus briefly reviewed the history of the first three generations of Lichtenwalners in this country. The subsequent and remaining four generations of the family are all represented here on the grounds to-day. The only representative of the fourth generation, so far as I am able to learn, that is with us to-day, is James Lichtenwalner, of Seipstown. He is a son of Jacob Lichtenwalner, who was one of the ten children of Johann No. 2. In fact I believe James is the only grandson of Johann No. 2 that is still living to-day. We can take just pride in our family record. It is true, no ancestor of ours ever attained high eminence or distinction in the annals of our country's history. In the language of the poet:

"Along the cool sequestered vale of life
They kept the noiseless tenor of their way."

But, while to fame unknown, every one of our ancestors was much honored and esteemed among his fellow men, and exerted a most wholesome influence in his immediate neighborhood. No ancestor of ours ever cast a stain upon the family name. You never heard of a Lichtenwalner being in jail, or committing a foul crime. You never heard of a Lichtenwalner becoming a public charge or a pauper. The entire family always has belonged, and does now belong, to that large middle class of our population, which constitutes the bone and sinew of our glorious country. The Lichtenwalners, as a rule, are quite tall of stature, many six footers being among the number. What has often occasioned remark, in the past as well as in the present, is the strong and striking family resemblance found in so many members of the family down through all the generations. May the present generation, and all future generations, command the same respect and esteem among their fellow men, as have our ancestors of the past. The goal that our fathers and our forefathers set before them was, not to attain tottering heights upon the pinnacle of fame, but in a quiet, humble way to do good, to be kind and helpful, to be square and honest in all their dealings with mankind. May the same noble principles guide their children and their children's children

JOHANNES LICHTENWALLNER'S CHILDREN.

Johannes Lichtenwallner, our common ancestor, and his wife Barbara's children:

1. The one-year old son they brought with them from the old country. Name unknown.
2. Margeretta, born Feb. 3, 1734.
3. Maria Agatha, born in 1736.
4. Johannes No. 2, born June 29, 1738.
5. Catharina, born Oct. 2, 1742.
6. Anna Christina, born May 12, 1745.
7. Johann Tobias, born April 23, 1747.
8. Catharina Margareta, born Oct. 30, 1749.
9. Abraham, born July 12, 1753.

Two of the sons are believed to have died in infancy. The only sons who are known to have left any descendants are Johannes No. 2, who is the ancestor of the Pennsylvania Lichtenwalners, and Abraham, who is the ancestor of the Ohio Lichtenwalters.

CHILDREN OF JOHANNES LICHTENWALLNER
No. 2.

Johannes Lichtenwallner No. 2, the ancestor of the Pennsylvania branch of the Lichtenwallner family, was born in Lehigh (then a part of Bucks) County, Pa. He married Catharina Stättler in 1763, and was a farmer and blacksmith by occupation. He died Oct. 30, 1794, aged 56 y. 4 m. 1d., and he and his wife are buried on the old cemetery at the Jordan Lutheran church.

Their children:

1. Catharine, married to Matthias Leibensperger.
2. Johannes Lichtenwallner No. 3.
3. Anna Maria, married to George Shaffer.
4. Barbara, married to Philip Leibensperger.
5. George Lichtenwalner.
6. Peter Lichtenwalner.
7. Margaret, married to Henry Kline.
8. Christopher Lichtenwallner.
9. Mary Magdalena, married to Jacob Vogel.
10. Jacob Lichtenwallner.

These ten children constitute the several heads or ancestors of the ten branches of the Lichtenwalner family in Pennsylvania. The descendants of each of these ten branches will be successively given on the following pages, first of the five sons according to age, beginning with Johannes No. 3, who was the oldest son, and then of the five daughters, also in the order according to age.

In giving the P. O. addresses, the state, if Pennsylvania, is always omitted.

Descendants of Abraham Lichtenwalter.

The descendants of ABRAHAM LICHTENWALTER, common ancestor of the Ohio branch of the Lichtenwalner family, are fully as numerous as are those of his brother, Johannes No. 2. The list here given of Abraham's progeny is far from being complete. Of the ten branches of his family, we have secured a partial list of the descendants of only four of them. Representatives of all the ten branches were written to, but many of them failed to respond, probably owing to want of time and inability to furnish us with correct lists, being that their kinsmen are widely scattered over many different States. Frank Braucher, of Canton, Ohio, and Jacob B. Lichtenwalter, of Milford, Indiana, furnished us with much valuable information and the committee feels very grateful to them for their kind assistance.

Abraham Lichtenwalter, son of Johannes Lichtenwallner, was born July 12, 1753, on the old homestead one mile west of Fogelsville. The following entry of Abraham's birth and baptism has been found in the first Baptismal Record of the Jordan Lutheran Church on page 36 :

"	Im Nahmen der Heiligen Dreifaltigkeit.
"	1753	Seid getauft worden
"	Den 12 Jul. natus	Infans
"	19 Aug. renatq.	Abraham
"		Dessen Vater und Mutter,
"		Johannes Lichtenwallner,
"		u. Barbara, seine Hausfrau.
"		Tauf Zeugen, Abraham
"		Knerr und seine Hausfrau,
"		Maria Etta.

Abraham was married to Eva Catharine Saeger, or Seeger, a granddaughter of Johann Nicholas Saeger, the ancestor of the large and prominent Saeger family in this and adjoining counties. They had twelve children, two of whom died in infancy. Abraham and his family moved to York county, this State, in 1791, and in 1813 he emigrated to Ohio, settling upon a farm near Canton, where he died the following year.

THE CHILDREN OF ABRAHAM LICHTENWALTER.
